Procedures for Receiving Medical (Compensation)Benefits

Q. What type of compensations can I receive if I am injured during work and forced to be absent from work for the treatment?

A.

If a worker is absent from work for medical treatment and loses wages, he/she can receive Temporary Absence from Work (Compensation) Benefits.

- •From when-the 4th day of the absence
- How much –80% of the basic daily benefits (*) per day (insurance benefits 60%+special allowance 20%)
- * The 'basic daily benefits' amount (average wages) is calculated by dividing the wages of total of the 3 months before the accident by the number of calendar days.

(Example) In case the worker receives wages of 200,000 yen per month, with end of month when the wage calculation closes. The accident occurs in October.

200,000 yen \times 3 months \div 92 days (July (31 days) + August (31 days) + September (30 days)

=6,522 yen $6,522 \times 80\% = 5,217 \text{ yen}$

 \rightarrow 5,217 yen, 80% of the basic daily benefits amount is paid per day of lost work.

Temporary Absence from Work (Compensation) Benefits

< Payment Conditions >

Payment will be made when all of the conditions in 1-3 are met.

- ①Absence from work for treatment must be resulting from injuries or diseases due to work or commuting
- 2 The worker must be unable to work
- (3) The worker must be receiving no wages

< Payment Details >

80% of the basic daily benefits (insurance benefits 60%+special allowance 20%) will be paid from the 4th day of absence.

<Claim Methods>

Submit a claims form directly to the labour standards inspection office

<Important Points>

No payments are made from Industrial Accident Compensation Insurance for the 1st through 3rd days of missed work. For employment injury, during this time the employer shall provide Temporary Absence from Work Compensation Benefits (60% of average wages per day).

Statute of Limitations –Claim rights are earned for each day on which wages are not paid and claims are valid for two years from the following day.

Pension and fulfill a fixed set of conditions, they can receive assistance payment within certain limits

(Industrial Accident Compensation school support allowance or Industrial Accident Compensation Childcare support Allowance)

Other Situations

- Q. The company where I work is not cooperative and insists the accident I suffered was not eligible for Industrial Accident Compensation, and will not assist with procedures such as providing employer's certification, what should I do?
- A. In principle, there is no reason a worker (or surviving family) cannot initiate Industrial Accident Compensation insurance proceedings on their own. In the event unavoidable obstacles such as the company refusing to provide employer's certification, Industrial Accident Compensation insurance claims forms can be accepted without Employer's certification.
- Q. Is it possible to have an accident which occurred at a company a long time ago recognized as an industrial accident?
- A. If the statute of limitations set for each type of insurance benefits is exceeded, benefits cannot be received.

 Each of the benefit items notes the relevant statute of limitations, so refer to those sections.
- Q. Can Industrial Accident Compensation be claimed even if I have already retired of the company the accident occurred or if the company no longer exists?
- A. Claims can be made even in the above circumstances.

 However, in these situations you may be asked to provide the names and addresses of the employer and co-workers from the company.
- Q. The company told me that 1 the company does not participate in the industrial compensation system and 2 a different special insurance is used instead of industrial compensation. In these circumstances can worker's compensation benefits still be received?
- A. ① In principle, workers can receive industrial compensation benefits if they suffer an injury or disease caused by work, even if the company is not enrolled in the industrial compensation insurance program.
 - ② industrial compensation benefits can be received even if the company subject to covered by special insurance systems.

if there is any compensation provided by the company (provision of medical treatment costs, compensation for lost work time, compensation for loss, etc.), the benefits may not be able to be provided (or the provided amounts may be reduced).

- Q. Can I receive benefits from Industrial Compensation Insurance in the following cases?
 - ①While commuting I was hit by a bicycle and injured. I do not know who the other person was.
 - ②I was injured while going to work using a different route than usual.
- A. In these circumstances can industrial compensation benefits still be received?
 - 1) Benefits from Industrial compensation Insurance can be received.
 - ②For cases where a different commuting route than normal is used, the case may be eligible for insurance benefits if a fixed set of conditions are met.

Commuting Injury

commuting injury refers to worker's injuries or disease which occur as a result of "commuting".

"Commuting" refers to the reasonable routes and methods used by workers for the travel related to work noted in 1 to 3 below, excluding those items which themselves are characteristic of work.

- 1 Round trip travel between a worker's residence and place of work
- ② Travel between a work place stipulated in ordinance Ministry of Health, labour and Welfare and another work place (referring to travel between work places for workers with multiple jobs)
- ③ Travel preceding or continuing on from the round trip travel noted in ①(limited to travel which corresponds to the requirements in Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare ordinances)
- < Payment Details >

The same as for employment injury.

(For Temporary Absence from Work Compensation, 200 yen is excluded from the benefits amount as a burden charge.)

< Claim Method>

The same as for employment injury.

Attachments: Accident Certificate (For traffic accidents) etc.

[For more details] Volume 2 • commuting injury \rightarrow P 5

Q. I was injured in a traffic accident while commuting. Can I still receive worker's compensation benefits if I have already received insurance money from the other party's compulsory automobile liability insurance etc.?

A. Under the same accident, the amount of the Industrial Accident Compensation Benefits you receive will be deducted the amount of compulsory automobile liability insurance etc. from total of Industrial Accident Insurance. Special allowances received if any work is missed or if any after effects remain will be paid regardless of whether payment was received from compulsory automobile liability insurance etc.
